The "Miami-esque" "outside terrace" at this second-floor Society Hill Italian "takes you miles away to a tranquil shore", and a "good-time-friendly" buzz prevails within its "charming" interior too; its "interesting" seafood-focused dishes and "creative" cocktails come at "less-than-exorbitant prices" via an "attentive, friendly" staff – no wonder most leave "happy and full", often headed to the Ritz theater across the way.
